Activity Purpose:

Many universities and chapters have hearing screening programs that they perform at local preschools or senior centers. Other community programs can go overlooked. For instance, local Women and Children's Shelters or local Refugee Resettlement areas often do not have access to hearing screenings. It is known that chronic otitis media can affect a child's language development. Most of the families in the local shelters have had a difficult time and if you can relieve some pressure regarding a child's health and hearing than you are making a difference.

Activity Description:

Work with local Women and Children's Shelters and local Refugee Resettlement areas to provide hearing screenings.

Important Contacts or Resources:

- Local Women and Children's Shelter
- Local Refugee Resettlement areas
- Local audiology clinics that you would refer to. Have handouts on hand to give to parents regarding hearing loss, otitis media, etc. Educational brochures and handouts can be customized for the children as well as the parents so they can learn about the affects of chronic otitis media and also noise exposure

Tips:

- Check with your local Women and Children's Shelter, as some do not allow men. You could also do screenings at co-ed shelters or Refugee Resettlement areas.
- For Brochures please check your local clinic, manufacturer's websites, or the following websites
 - o <http://www.audiology.org/publications-resources/brochures>
 - o <http://www.cdc.gov/ncbddd/hearingloss/families.html>
